Product features

1

Workle integrates into the internet new professions that one could not perform online before. A peculiarity of the project is dividing users into those who have work experience and into novices: the first group is tested before getting access to the Internet office, and the second can take specially developed integrated distance education courses. The courses consist of online lessons, tests, webinars, training exercises and adaptation system.

2

More than 80,000 of Russian residents have already been working with Workle. By 2015 Workle will provide jobs for 1.5 million of Russian people.

There are no similar projects abroad. Workle is a sort of unique service.
